Patio Covers & Carports

Solid Insulated Cover.

Four Seasons USA's insulated patio cover cores are manufactured using expanded polystyrene technology. This manufacturing process has been recognized by architects around the world for its superior insulating characteristics and it gives you complete protection from nature's elements.

A fashionable addition to the insulated patio covers is the Illumaview Natural Light System. These optional natural light panels allow moderate amounts of light under your patio cover. The patented design interlocks seamlessly with the insulated panels. The polycarbonate materials used in these panels are impervious to discoloration or cracking, and they filter the sun's ultraviolet rays.

Roll-Formed Covers.

An additional option for solid shade covers are the Four Seasons USA roll-formed patio covers. Engineered for durability and strength, Four Seasons USA roll-formed patio covers and carports are trouble-free and provide simple solutions for shading your home.

Riser Pan Covers are manufactured from heavy gauge aluminum or alloy. The riser pan cover's design is sleek and seamless for a flat ceiling.

"W" Pan Covers are engineered with the latest roll forming technology to expand farther than any other solid patio cover on the market using less support columns.

Design Options.

Using lattice components allows you to dress up your patio cover and is applicable to all Four Seasons USA patio covers. Choose from four different end cuts.

Combination Covers.

Four Seasons patio covers are designed to give you versatility. Combining Elitewood lattice and a solid patio covers is a popular choice for many homeowners.
